When you call, please have the following information:

- your social insurance number
- your nine-digit personal health identification number
- the name of the healthcare provider you saw as a result of your injury
- your wage information, such as your pay stub.

After you provide the details of your injury, you will be given a claim number and the name and telephone number of the adjudicator who will handle your claim. The adjudicator is the WCB staff person who will work with you on your claim and the person you should call if you have any questions.

If you have to pay for any medication or other expenses related to your injury, keep your original receipts and advise your adjudicator. These expenses may be covered by the WCB.
